This book provides a set of materials that enables educators at the secondary and college levels to teach a one-semester or one-year course in System Dynamics modeling. These materials are also useful for trainers in a business environment. Developed for beginning modelers, the lessons contained in this book and accompanying CD can be used for a core curriculum or for independent study. The package also includes STELLAB® Systems Thinking software from ISEE Systems. Using STELLA, students are actively engaged in the creation of visual models to study and explore a wide variety of problems where the study of the behavior of dynamic systems is the focus.
